

FINALE

All the tales have been told and Jurong and Gong Gong press Nü Wa for an answer to the question of which of them has won the challenge. There is to be no winner. Realising that true balance is created by the interaction of both spirits, Nü Wa determines that Yin and Yang must not be split, but must coexist together in harmony, each serving mankind in their own unique way.

